Best Practice 1

1.1 Title of the Practice: Mentoring System

1.2 Objectives of the Practice:

- Provide mentorship to help students adjust to their new environment.
- Monitor the overall development of students during their period of study on campus.
- Minimize student drop-out rates.
- Identify and understand the challenges faced by slow learners, find solutions to assist them, and simultaneously encourage and support advanced learners.
- Identify career paths for students and support their personal growth.
- Focus on the student's holistic development.

1.3 The Context :

The institution acknowledges the diverse socio-economic backgrounds of its students and emphasizes the importance of mentorship as a best practice. Consequently, the institution has adopted mentoring as a key strategy.

Recognizing the necessity of a robust system for mentoring, guidance, and counseling, the institution aims to foster the holistic development of our students. Many of our students come from rural areas and are often the first in their families to pursue higher education, known as First Generation Learners. Through effective mentoring and guidance, we can create significant positive impacts on their lives.

The Student History Note comprehensively records students' details, encompassing both academic and non-academic activities, counseling sessions, and all relevant data.

1.4 The Practice

- A mentor is assigned to a group of students from their first year through to their final year. This structured mentoring scheme involves regular meetings where mentors and students discuss both academic and personal progress.

- The mentoring framework is built around four key aspects: academic performance, attendance, career guidance, and general well-being.
- Mentors are provided with information regarding mentees' academic performance and attendance records.
- The mentor also monitors the mentees' personal development, including their involvement in co-curricular activities, adherence to discipline, and career-related concerns.
- The mentor addresses mentees' concerns and, if necessary, refers them to the Principal for appropriate action.

1.5 Evidence of Success:

- Improvement seen in discipline, regularized attendance, and participation in extracurricular activities.
- Minimized college dropout rates.
- Slow learners were identified, and recommendations were made for remedial classes.
- Identification of individual talents and encouragement based on those talents.
- Encouraged and motivated students for on-campus and off-campus recruitment.
- Mentoring in college yields significant positive impacts on students. It boosts academic performance, leading to higher CGPA, and reduces unexcused absences and discipline issues.
- Despite coming from rural backgrounds and being educated in regional languages, our students have excelled remarkably. Many have achieved top ranks, secured positions in multinational companies, pursued higher education, and successfully realized their ambitions.

1.6 . Problems encountered and resources required:

- Given the students' diverse backgrounds, mentors aim to approach their guidance thoughtfully and with great care from the outset.

- The primary challenge for the Mentor-Mentee Program is managing time constraints.
- In all mentoring programs, balancing busy schedules is a common challenge. Both mentors and students have multiple commitments, leading to frequent rescheduling of meetings.
- While it's understandable that other responsibilities arise, it's difficult for both parties to maintain their mentoring relationship and the program. Regularly missing or postponing sessions can disrupt the mentee's progress and weaken the overall impact of the mentorship.
- At the start of a mentoring relationship, either the mentor or the student often desires to meet more frequently than the program's guidelines suggest. However, sustaining this frequent meeting schedule often becomes impractical as other academic commitments and responsibilities come into play.

Best Practices - 2

2.1 Title of the Practice: JP Students Debate Club

2.2 Objectives of the Practice

1. To instill self-confidence in students.
2. To enhance students oratory skills.
3. To promote holistic development through extracurricular and curricular activities.
4. To cultivate students' reading and writing proficiency.
5. To develop a habit of reading.

2.3 The Context:

The JP Debate Forum, founded in 2022, aims to cultivate students' oratory skills by providing a platform for confidence-building and the development of inherent talents. Recognizing the unique communication challenges faced by students in our rural college, we are dedicated to addressing the notable decline in reading and writing habits among today's students. By prioritizing the enhancement of oratory skills, we believe that we can inspire a renewed interest in reading, which will, in turn, lead to improved writing abilities over time.

2.4 The Practice:

- The J P Debate Club motivates students to willingly participate in competitions.
- Debates will be held on the last Thursday of every month.
- Topics are chosen based on the current scenario.
- Debates are conducted in both Tamil and English.
- Following the Tamil debate, an English debate will be conducted.
- Participants can register their names to their respective in charges.
- It's a platform for showcasing their competence.

2.5 Evidence of Success:

Initially, student responses were limited, but we have since witnessed a significant surge in engagement. Participation in district-level and inter-level elocution and essay competitions has notably risen. Additionally, students are actively cultivating their reading habits. The evidence clearly demonstrates this positive trend.

Here is some of the evidence.

1. Mr Jaisingh Samson from I BA English won first prize in the English Speech Competition which was organized by Tamil Nadu Government at Tenkasi on 31.3.23. He received Rs. 20,000 cash prize and will be honored by our Tamil Nadu Chief Minister in June.
2. Our Student Mr.Jaisingh Samson from Second Year B.A. English participated in the state level Elocution competition organized by Tamil Nadu State Government minority welfare Department. Then He was selected in the district level and received First prize cash prize Rs. 20, 000 in the district level.

2.6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required:

- At the start, students did not show much interest in the debate club because of their stage fright and shyness.
- The students are interested in participating in competitions conducted in English, but most of the competitions are held in the regional language.
- Time constraint is the major problem for organizing and preparation for the event.
